Peace! Peace! Every men in this State is for peace

Kentucky has been the most consistent friend of peace; not crying peace! peace! but urging rational means for peace. She urged terms of peace and Union in Congress constantly, perpetually and persistently. She has voted for everything that looked like peace, or means of obtaining it. She was first to propose a National Convention formally, through her Legislature. She promptly ratified the only amendment Congress proposed to the Federal Constitu tion as a beginning to terms of peace; but all her efforts have had one condition, and Union. She has never whispered a consent to division, and never intended it in the as one party makes a division an ultimatum. it can't approach Kentucky. She is on the border; her essential interest is in the Union. Free trade and free communication oaboth sides are the source of her prosperity. Besides, if the Union be divided, we have not the least security for peace hereafter. History is a poor teacher, if these two sec tions, divided, do not spend the remainder of the case. We cannot look at this prospect to ourselves and those who are to come after us with patience; other Southern States may feel safe in their remote positions, and sneer at war; for its calamities, in all their horror, will not fall on them. Propose peace now, after all we have done. and we shall get no response from either side to begin with; and if we do get a conference, it will only be a respite, to begin war They certainly have a right to resist, but with more fury than ever on the thousand questions that will have to be settled. There allowed to enjoy their liberty, and property, is a portion of the North, the Abolitionists, and their own opinions, they had as well who will soon be for peace. As soon as the idea gets through their thick skulls that they go on in their crazy course. Another can't get au unconditional submission from theater of war could add nothing to the the South, or abolish slavery, they will be more than willing for a separation, as they always have been, but they are a small before any movement is made on the sub squad. The declaration of the Democracy ject. Mr. C. seems to give a candid account of New York, that they are not for war, or of his observations. even peace, on the basis of a division of the Union, is the sentiment of the country. The first part of the sentence is simed at the sentiment of some Republicans, who suggest that war is needed to get favorable terms of separation; the last part is the sentiment of three-fourths of the people of the Union; and it accords with the patriotic sentiment of Kentucky, and what is usually more potent, her interest in all time to come. Peace without Union, on some fixed terms, is only a temporary respite, if it were not a utopian idea now. We notice that the zeal for peace is rampant with the Secession sympathizers. They think it the short cut to the Southern Confederacy. If they are sincerely for peace, how do they think so much of those who brought on the war, and who now have as their ultimatum a division of the Union, and who will not listen to any terms, short of separation? They know that peace is impossible on any terms, except an acknowledgment of the Southern Confederacy, and that is just what they mean when they ask for peace-a dissolution of the Union. It is nothing but a Secession dodge to catch votes, and increase the'r National Convention, Kentucky has done all indignant if it is. she could for it, and is for it now. Let them

This comes from a source entirely reliable, and we demand of the Governor of this State if he is doing his duty in quietly allowing our citizens to be driven from their homes for opinion sake? Is that the way he does his work in the chair to which the people of the State have elected him? Will his friends dare to rant at a breach of neutrality by Union men? Will he inform us what he expects Union men to do? Does he suppose they will submit to this infamous trestment? No where in this State have Secessionists been disturbed in the quiet enjoyment of their opinions, and the free expression of them, although that party are Rights men elected to call the year and but a faction in this State. We assure the Governor that this will not be tolerated. We must see that this despotism is ended, they are reconciled to their fate. and that promptly. A man may be blind to the conduct of his partisans, but the Governor of a State is bound to take some action in a case of this sort; if he does not, the Legislature will. It may be an evil not easily got at. The local authorities may give no protection, and we do not believe young musical friend, we learn is about to they will. have the outcry that neutrality is violated. The facts we have stated can easily be veri fied; indeed they will not be denied. We have a letter before us from a citizen of Melburn, whose word will not be disputed. He is driven from his home by a lawless set of men, who are defying the laws of the State, and trampling on the rights of our people. Something must be done.

The New York World has discovered that Kentucky has done well with neutrality, after all, notwithstanding the objections to

The editor has, at last, come to understand something about this State. The experiments in Missouri should teach a week ago, and says that Boothby's desertion lesson not to be disregarded. If General Harney had been let alone, to pursue what he saw and understood was best, the trouble there would have been saved. Now the Federal Government must send large numbers oftroops to protect that State, not only from the Secessionists of Missouri, but also from thousands of troops sent from other States. This is all mismanagement, arising from an ignorance of the condition of the State. Missouri would be as firm for the Union as Kentucky to-day, if she had just been let alone. New she is the seat of war, and of what value is it to the Union?

It would be easy now to inaugurate civil war in this State, to no valuable purpose looked to one way-the preservation of the toward the object of restoring the Union It would only extend the theater of war and its calamities, and inflict evil on thousands terms, and we trust she never will. As long to no valuable end. Kentucky will abide by the obligation of the Constitution, and execute the laws of the Federal Government within her own limits. A wise Administra tion will not ask more, lest it may do more harm than good. The Union men of this State do not mean by neutrality independence of the Federal Government, nor resistance to its authority, but they understand the condition of the State, and think of this century mostly in war; and Kentucky it best to promote the cause of obedience to will be the battle ground from the necessity the Constitution and a restoration of the Union their own way.

He was immediately taken to the fortress by cting Brigadier General Weber and Major Van Dahr, of his staff. The deserter there gave information to General Butler to the effect that 7,000 rebels were drawn line of battle about two miles beyond Hamp. ton, having marched since morning from Yorktown, provided with rations for twentyfour hours, and supported by eight pieces of artillery, including one rifled cannon. He said they had been waiting since their arrival an attack from our forces, and that now, having despaired of our coming out, they had determined to take Newport News by surprise on their way back.

Acting upon the information thus re eived, the camps were supplied with extra mmunition, the pickets were increased in number and cautioned to unusual vigilance. and all the force put in readiness for action at a moment's warning.

Such was the state of affairs when night losed in upon us. About 11 o'clock a com pany of the rebels opened a fire by sections cross the river, near the bridge, upon our pickets. The pickets (two companies from the Twe tieth Regiment) immediately fell up on their faces -a most fortunate movement, as, so accurate was the rebel fire, they would otherwise have been mown down or suffered severe loss. The fence of Col. Mallory's yard, behind which a company of our men were placed, is riddled with was injured.

A half hour subsequent to the firing, a building in the south side of the village was observed to be burning, and but few moments | sionally exempt. Now this state of things elapsed before the whole village was lighted up along the bank of the river on the opposite side. House after bouse, in rapid uccession, was touched within by the fatal torch, and the flames began to burst from the windows. The brilliancy and terrible mpressiveness of the awful scene increased until the country for miles around was llumined by the light of the burning vil-

age. There has not a drop of rain fallen here for weeks, and under a scorching sun every ombustible substance has been, as it were prepared for this event. A furious wind m the South, like a tempest, drove the maddening flames before it to their work of desolation. The long, low, arched bridge terminating, dismantled, only about a rod from the other bank, was lighter than midday, and reflected in the water with the perfection of picture. Now and then I could catch glimpse of one or two of the rebel incendi aries running from one building to another with lighted torches. At last they reached the barricade, and, with their rifles prepared for deadly aim, watched to mark some of the incendiaries who might be seen among the burning buildings. All by this time, though, had probably retreated to the rear of the town. In a little while patrols and skirmishers were sent out from the Twentieth Regiment in every direction, and especially toward Fox Hill, whence it was thought there was some danger of an attack. The soldiers were all anxious for a fray, and waited impatiently until the sun in the East paled the brilliancy of the conflagration in the West.

A forest of chimneys, blighted bleared by the fire, of standing brick walls of some of the houses, and of scorched and withered trees, with columns of sluggish smoke rising here and there from among the smoldering ruins, marks the site where yesterday stood one of the most beautiful villages in the whole country.

The rebels have done their work of arson well. Only about half a dozen little houses remain unburned, together with the old ohurch that saw our revolutionary struggles, and still stands to witness those of one more terrible even than that that tried our fathers' souls.

No MALIGNITY IN THE ARMY .-- A Washington correspondent of the Protestant Churchman says:

"I have conversed with innumerable soldiers, officers and privates, with a view to discover their prevalent feeling. In some cases I have found that thoughtless ardor for a brush or a battle which pervades all armies, but in no one instance have I detected a spirit of malignity. On the contrary, over and over again have I heard generous and sad regrets at the dreadful necessity of taking up arms against brethren, profound wonder at the infatuation which seeks to overthrow this most beneficent of human governments, hopes that the Union may be preserved with little bloodshed, and that fraternal feeling toward their Northern brethren may soon revisit the South. This, beyond all doubt, is the prevailing spirit of this magnificent citizen army."

Correspondence of the New York Herald .- It ascertained that General Magruder left Yorktown a few days ago with about 7,000 rebels, and went in the direction of Richmond. It is supposed they were to join the column of Beauregard in front of Washingon. In the window of Messrs. Hegan & Escott there is now on exhibition a most remarkable work of art-a marble bust of Henry Clay-by Mr. Albert P. Henry, of Princeton, Ky., a nephew of S. G. Henry, of our city. It is Mr. Henry's first attempt at sculpturing. When he began it he did not even know what tools are used by sculptors; but he went into a blacksmith's shop, and made such tools as he considered neces sary, and with them has given to the marble the features of life. The friends of Mr Clay recognize in it a most striking likeness to the great statesman. It seems to us, considering the circumstances, a marvelous work. Mr. Henry must hereafter take a very high position among sculptors. It is difficult to say what he may not accomplish.

Anderson Guards .- This company of the Home Guard made a beautiful display yesterday afternoon. They are admirably uniformed and well drilled. They made quite a sensation near the corner of Third and Main streets, where Klauber made a photograph of the company. Previous to their undergoing the photographic process Mr. Bishop, of the firm of Wm. Sumner & Co., presented the company with a beautifal silken flag, whose folds waved gloriously over their ranks. Nor was this all; Capt. Harris was presented by the company with a beautiful sword. Taken altogether, the occasion was one which will be long remem. bered both by the Guards and by the citizens of Louisville.

ACCIDENT .- We learn that Capt. Benson Ormsby's horse became frightened and ran away Wednesday evening with a youth named Coyle upon his back, and that, at the corner of First and Main streets, the horse fell, throwing the boy with such violence as to break his arm and otherwise injure him. The horse, too, which is a very valuable animal, was so badly injured by the fall that he died yesterday morning.

LET US HAVE PEACE !- This is the title of a new song from the fertile brain and pen of Will S. Hays. Like everything from that source, it is full of beauties, and will doubtless become a part of every musical album in the city. The Richmond Dispatch, in narrating the achievements of the Eight Georgia SHOWING THE RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURE Regiment at Bull Run, closes a graphic ccount of their valorous conduct under the fire of the Federal troops as follows: "At length they withdrew from the fight. Their final rally was with some 60 men of the 600 they took in. Balaklava tells no more heroic tale than this: 'Into the valley of death marched the six hundred.' As they retired, Our friends in the country remitting odd they passed General Beauregard. He drew aside, fronted, raised his hat, and said: 'I salute the Eight Georgia with my hat off.'" After the retirement of this remnant of the Eight Regiment, the Dispatch goes on to tell how the Georgia Seventh was brought up to sustain the position they had occupied, and how bravely they fought; but it appears that they were slaughtered very much in the same manner, the Colonel (Bartow) being killed immediately upon taking position. These detailed accounts of the losses sustained by each regiment show a much greater loss of the rebels than the papers which publish them have ever been willing to admit in the aggregate. Here are over 500 Georgians admitted to have been killed, while the Louisianians claim to have lost over 300, and the South Carolina Legion, whose Colenel was wounded and their Lieutenant Colonel killed, are officially reported to have been completely "cut up," and to have had more than 200 drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He killed and wounded. The North Carolina Regiment lost 110 men, and every other regiment suffered more or less; and yet the rebel authorities claim that their loss was

ARRIVAL OF THE SCHOONER WM. S. TIS-DALE FROM FORT PICKENS .- The schooner William S. Tisdale, Captain Tournier, arrived at New York on Suaday from Fort Pickens, which port she left July 29, after having landed ordnance stores for the fort. There has nothing of any importance transpired since our last advices. The health of the troops was good, and they are in good spirits. The rebels were still engaged strengthening their fortifications. On the Sunday previous to Capt. Tournier's sailing, a miniature sail boat (about two and one half feet long), having a tin cannon for a bowsprit, arrived at Fort Pickens, having been sent by the rebels. Her cargo consisted of New Orleans papers, contain. ing a full account of the battle at Bull Run, for which news the rebels fired nine guns. ences. Personally and artistically he is a Captain Tournier reports that on the 8th instant, off Hatteras, at half-past six P. M , success. Captain T. still kept his course, when six more shots were fired, none of which took effect, each one passing either across the bow or stern, the last just grazing his port quarter. The privateer then gave up the chase, she being left so far astern.

less than that of the Union army!

FEMALE SEARCHERS IN THE REVENUE SERVICE .- Many persons are unaware that an old system of English and Continental custom-houses exists in the revenue service of New York, in the way of employment of female searchers. At the barge office, at the foot of Whitehall street, all the first and second-class passengers who arrive in foreign vessels are taken into a convenier room, appropriated for the purpose, and female searchers perform their office upon the voyagers of their own sex. The duty, of course, is delicately and expeditiously done, and it may be premised that the employment of females in the service is an imperative necessity. Large quantities o diamonds and other precious stones are annually smuggled into this country, and despite the vigilance of the officers of the customs, they continue to arrive by every steamer. Some time since it was found that females were employed in concealing these dutiable articles, and, no doubt, in many instances they succeeded in escaping with their goods by pleading for that non-inter ference with their baggage and person which no gentlemen could refuse. Since the inauguration of the female revenue officers. smuggling in that direction has materially

A Word to the Ladies. IN recommending to you to use HOSTETTER'S CEL-EBRATED STOMACH BITTERS it is but just to state CHEAP PISTOLS; hat, as a stimulant to the system, in imparting strength and vigor during certain periodical stages which are ofttimes attended with much pain and trouble, we know of no preparation more highly adapted to all afflictions consequent upon this cause; and for a mother nursing a babe, the Bitters cannot be dispensed with, specially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child; consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the whole system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy, and before so doing, ask your : hysician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtues of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases.

Inasmuch as Mr. and Mrs. Pisher are strangers in this part of the country, I beg leave to append an extract from a letter from the President of We-timinster College, located at Fulion, Mo., in which Mr. Pisher has been a Professor for six years past, which has been suspended on account of the war, be ng in the immediate seat of hottlities. President Lawes writes:

"Mr. Fisher has been our Professor of Latin for six years: and if Westminster ever needs a man in his department again, he will be sought for from the ends of the land. He is the best Latin scholar and tencher I have ever known. He writes and speaks the L tin fluentity, and drills his boys to do the same, and is the only man I have ever known to succeed at it. He is very amiable, and mild, and gentlemanly, and yet one of the most successful disciplinarians I have ever known, being exceedingly prompt and accurate in managing a class. He is passionately fond of teaching, and remarkably successful at it. His wife is a gitted and highly cultivated musician. She reads the most difficult music, and is the composer of a number of pieces found in the music stores. Her singing and playing are not those of a mere amat ur. Both she and her husb and have had experience in teacting young ladles. Having known Professor Fisher bong and inflantely, I love him as a brother, and know his worth as a geuterman, ascholar, and Christian of as pure and guileless a character as ever lived."

JUST THE THING .- Our attention was called this morning to a friend of ours, who, a few months ago, was sickly, feeble and debilitated-now he is healthy, strong, and robust. This great change was produced by taking McLean's Celebrated Strength-ENING CORDIAL. It is a real Elizir of Life. We advise every reader who may be sickly and debilitated, and all who are well 1861. SUMMER ARRANGEMENT. 1861. and wish to keep so, to try it .- Evening au2 d&wlm

The fiery ordeal of public opinion is about the best and surest test of superiority or efficiency in anything. It is especially so with all inventions or discoveries. Money may bring a thing into temporary notoriety but merit alone can make it retain the pos of acceptance. This has been strikingly verified in the case of WRIGHT'S REJU-VENATING ELIXIR. It has passed through the ordeal, and established itself in every region where introduced, solely from its intrinsic merit; it pretends to nothing but what it can and does perform as a tonic, alterative, diuretic, restorative and healthgiving cordial; for, though medicinal in effect, it is not so in taste. We say try it!

traight-Line Movements, Original Transverse Shuttle. and Periphery Clamp Feed-Wheel.

THESE SEWING MACHINES COMBINE THE most recent improvements, are nearly noiseless when in operation, run with the greatest ease and rapidity, and are better adapted for general purposes and lazily use than any other. They are not liable to get out of order, are exceedingly simple, and are made expressly for real practical utility; they do every variety of sewing, from the finest woven tissue to the heaviest woolen goods, both talloring and fine leather work. Any person may learn to operate them in a very short time. of sewing, from the finest woven tissue to the heaviest wooken goods, both tailoring and fine leather work. Any person may learn to operate them in a very short time.

The great difficulty with all other old-style Machines is too much complication, requiring so much constant adjustment, and such an amount of mechanical skill and diagenuty to use them to advantage, as to render them of little comparative value.

But the Sewing Machines manufactured by Greenman & True are not liable to these objections, as any person, on even a moment's examination, will readily discover. They will do more and better work than any other Machine ever offered to the public, making the most beautiful lock-stitch, alike on both sides, dend for an off-hand specimen of sewin upon any material you wish, and you will then see how it is done.

passing through our place, casually heard of a most e fectuate cure of an obstinate case of Salt Rheum in maker of my family, having politely requested the case, I most cheerfully comply with his remass. facts of the case, I most cheerfully comply with his request.

The subject of this remarkable cure is my son, who was attacked with Salt Rheum when about a year and a half eid. I applied from time to time for ald to the most efficient Poysicians in the Eastern States, one of whom had traveled in Europe; but whilst he would at times receive some temporary relief still the disease remained, and type, until he arrived at the age of four-teen years, when my eye providentially rested upon the advertisement of the Weaver's Canker and Tait Rheum Syrup and Cerate. I at once procured a bottle, which on trial so encouraged me, that I procured two more, together with the Cerate, and the result is, that my son now is and has been effectually cured of that wretched disease for the last three and a half years.
